

Dec. 29, 2020. Jason Winters (TappingAnxietyAway.com)

Thank you so much Amelia for your support. My business continued to waste thousands of dollars due to lack of clarity of who we needed to hire as part of our team, pricing structure, and training/on boarding. I appreciate how patient and understanding you are. As soon as we implemented the ideas and tools you recommended, we found the perfect match for our company. I will never go at it alone again. I know that outsourcing websites are valuable, but I'll never outsource again without the help of your team. It was something I didn't really understand, and now I completely love. Thank you so much 😊

Nov. 4, 2020. Matt Johnson (Agency Owner)

Amelia is amazing! Our team booked her on the Boss Mom podcast and it was such a phenomenal episode we can't wait to bring her back! The insights and actionable ideas were fantastic and we're getting awesome feedback on the episode!

Oct. 23, 2020. Tamaqua Nisbett (Information Resource Specialist @ UBC)

This week I had the honor of being an attendee at the 2020 Women's Professional Empowerment Symposium hosted virtually. Amelia delivered a eye opening session that proved to be very valuable to all who attended. She was open, honest and knowledgeable about women entrepreneurs and dropped gems that myself and other attendees can use and apply to get their brands off the ground and be seen. As a project manager for the event I also was able to work with Amelia through the planning stages and she was very timely with requests and always such a joy in our correspondence. Takes notes and soak in as much of her wisdom as you can if you have the pleasure to work with her or hear her speak. Thanks so much Amelia!